ORGANTO CORPORATE POLICIES

Code of Business Conduct and Ethics Policy

INTRODUCTION

Organto Foods Inc. and its affiliated companies (“Organto” or “the Company”) conduct its business in accordance with the spirit, as well as the letter of the law. We believe in and strive to adhere to the highest standards of ethical conduct in our operations. As an officer, employee, director, contractor or agent, you are expected to perform your duties, not only in compliance with the law, but in accordance with these ethical standards as well.

PURPOSE

This policy is established to set forth the standards that govern all officers, employees, directors, contractors and agents in the performance of their duties on behalf of Organto, and, where applicable, in their involvement in outside business activities.

Senior leadership has the primary responsibility for setting the standard for ethical conduct through the implementation of appropriate policies and also by personal example. By accepting to work for or provide services to Organto, you confirm your acceptance of the obligation to carefully observe these standards of conduct.

In all decisions you make affecting our business, you must consider what is right for the Company as a whole and ask yourself how your contemplated actions would appear if all the facts, interests and motives were made public. In business, as in life, the hard question sometimes is not "what must I do," but "what must I refuse to do."

It is not possible to present a comprehensive list of every activity that might give rise to an ethical or legal dilemma. Instead, this policy seeks to address those potentially compromising situations that arise with the greatest frequency in the business world.

SCOPE

- (a) Each officer, employee, director, contractor and agent shall be furnished a copy of this Code of Business Conduct and Ethics Policy.
- (b) Each officer, employee, director, contractor and agent shall provide evidence of his/her receipt, reading and comprehension of this policy on an annual basis.
- (c) Each employment offer letter or contract for services shall include the Code of Business Conduct and Ethics Policy and a certificate or form which must be executed as a part of the acceptance of an employment offer or contract for services agreement.
- (d) Any violation of this policy shall be subject to disciplinary action. The specific form of disciplinary action taken shall depend on the nature of the infraction and shall range from a verbal warning through to termination of employment or the contract for services, or criminal prosecution.
- (e) All officers, directors, employees, contractors and agents are obligated to report any wrongdoing or violation of this code of conduct or related policies, violation of accounting or internal controls, or any incidents of fraud or alleged fraud in accordance with Organto’s Ethics Reporting Policy and/or Whistleblower Policy.

CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

Organto respects your right to privacy in your personal activities and financial affairs. A principal purpose of this policy is to provide guidance to you in avoiding situations which are, or may appear to be, in conflict with your responsibilities to Organto.

It is essential you avoid any situation or interest which might interfere with your judgment with respect to your commitments and responsibilities to Organto. In determining whether a conflict is involved in a given situation, there is no substitute for your sound judgment and personal integrity applied to the particular facts involved. Generally speaking, a conflict of interest exists when an obligation or situation resulting from your personal activities or financial affairs may influence your judgment in the performance of your responsibilities to Organto. In the event of a possible conflict of interest, it is recommended that advice be solicited from the employee, contractor or agent's immediate supervisor, or a member of the Leadership team, as to the nature of the matter and options to mitigate.

All of our officers, employees, directors, contractors and agents are to conduct Organto's affairs on an "arms' length" basis and not engage in any business or financial activity that may conflict with the interest of Organto. For example, the selection of agents, contractors, distributors, suppliers, consultants and the like on behalf of Organto must be made solely on the basis of their ability to perform the required work competently and at competitive prices.

OUTSIDE FINANCIAL INTERESTS

If you have a financial interest in, are a director of, or perform work for a third party with whom the Company does business or competes, you must disclose that interest to the Company. Such financial interest in a third party includes stock ownership and any related trusts or estates, but excludes ownership of less than 5% of the third party's stock.

You should also bring to the attention of your immediate supervisor (see Ethics Reporting Policy) any situation in which the financial interest of an immediate family member or close friend could create the appearance of impropriety. Disclosure of these relationships will enable Organto to ensure that no conflict exists and that all dealings are consistent with the intent of this policy.

You are expected to disclose all potential conflicts of interest or confirm that none exist by documenting any such potential conflicts on the acknowledgement form appended to these Corporate Policies.

GIFTS, GRATUITIES, ENTERTAINMENT AND TRAVEL

You must not accept any gift, entertainment or anything else which could be perceived by others to be of such value that it may interfere with your judgment concerning the giver of the gift. Generally, this means that gifts over a value of $400 CDN, or the applicable currency adjusted amount, are inappropriate and receipt of any gift having a value in excess of $100 CDN, or the applicable currency adjusted amount, should be disclosed (see Ethics Reporting Policy).

Officers, employees, directors, contractors and agents traveling or entertaining on Company business are representing Organto and are expected to conduct themselves with dignity and behave ethically at all times. Expenses incurred on business trips or entertaining should be reasonable and consistent with normal living standards. All are expected to manage expenses with proper prudence and financial scrutiny. Those who are in doubt as to the appropriateness of a specific travel or entertainment expense should consult with their immediate supervisor.

OUTSIDE WORK

In addition to potential conflicts of financial interest, a conflict of time interest may exist if you undertake to engage in an independent business venture or to perform work or services for another business or organization, to the extent such outside activity impinges on, or conflicts with, your responsibilities to Organto. Any such outside interests must be disclosed (see Ethics Reporting Policy).

IMPROPER PAYMENTS

You may not authorize, make, or participate in, a payment of money or a gift on behalf of Organto of materials, equipment, services, facilities or anything else of value to:

- any domestic or foreign government or governmental agency or official;
- any non-governmental customer or prospective customer; or
- any employee, agent or associate of such a person or entity for the purpose of promoting or retaining business for Organto or inducing the recipient to grant favorable treatment to, or forgo any claim against, Organto.

This does not preclude token gratuities that are consistent with the law and are approved in advance by the CEO or CFO, as appropriate.

CONFIDENTIAL AND PROPRIETARY INFORMATION

CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION

You must exercise care not to disclose nonpublic information regarding Organto or its operations, customers, suppliers, employees and financial results among others. Of course, not all confidential information will be designated as such and it need not be in written form to require protection. You must be sensitive to the kinds of information that constitutes Organto's confidential and proprietary information, sometimes referred to as trade secrets. Confidential and proprietary information is that which is not known or available to the public and which might adversely affect Organto's interests if it were disclosed.

The above examples illustrate the scope of information covered by this policy but are not meant to be all inclusive. If you are uncertain whether something is confidential, you should assume that it is or contact your immediate supervisor for specific advice and clarification.

All officers, employees, directors, contractors and agents must also ensure compliance with Company policy and regulatory agency requirements related to access and disclosure of insider information (see Procedures and Guidelines Governing Insider Trading and Tipping).

CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION OF OTHERS

In addition to protecting our own trade secrets and other confidential and proprietary information, it is our policy and practice to respect the trade secrets of others. This is particularly pertinent if you have knowledge of the trade secrets of a former employer or any customer or supplier. You are not to reveal any information that might reasonably be considered a trade secret of a former employer or any customer or supplier. Likewise, if you are approached with any offer of confidential information which you believe may have been improperly obtained you should immediately bring this to the attention of your immediate supervisor (see Ethics Reporting Policy).

SOFTWARE PROTECTION

The protection of software is grounded in long-established copyright rules that govern their use. The unauthorized duplication of software constitutes copyright infringement regardless of whether it is done for sale, for free distribution or for an individual's use. Moreover, those individuals who make the copies are liable for copyright infringement whether or not they knew their conduct violated existing laws.

Organto licenses software from a variety of sources. This includes not only operating software programs, but also programs typically used for word processing, spreadsheets and data management. We do not own the packaged software or its related documentation and, unless authorized, do not have the right to copy or reproduce this software or its related documentation.

It is our policy to license a sufficient number of programs to provide for the legitimate needs of all employees. You are not permitted to copy, resell or transfer (in-house or to your home) any software unless authorized under the applicable software license agreement.

Each officer, employee, contractor or agent is responsible for ensuring that all software installed on their computer is properly licensed for such use and is properly safeguarded.

Severe penalties can be assessed against unauthorized copying or use of computer software.

CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION OF EMPLOYEES, DIRECTORS, CONTRACTORS AND AGENTS

Just as you are expected to protect Organto's confidential information, Organto will protect your legitimate right to the confidentiality of your employment records. We will provide information to third parties only upon written authorization of the officer, employee, director, contractor or agent or as mandated by law.

Finally, Organto expects you to respect the reasonable expectations of privacy of your fellow employees, whether at work or away from the job.

OWNERSHIP OF FILES AND OTHER DOCUMENTS

All documents, encoded media and other tangible items provided to you by Organto or prepared, generated or created by you or others in connection with any business activity of Organto, including but not limited to, files, recordings, electronic data, abstracts, correspondence, notes and reports, whether printed, handwritten or in any other form and including any reproductions or partial copies of any such items are the property of Organto. At any time, at Organto's request, and automatically on termination from employment or contract, you must promptly surrender all Organto documents in your possession. As a guideline, assume that, upon termination of employment or contract, you will surrender any business information that came into your possession and control by any means whatsoever during the course of your employment or contract.

ACCURATE BOOKS, RECORDS AND FINANCIAL REPORTS

Our financial statements and the books and records on which they are based must fairly and accurately report all business transactions and reflect Organto's assets, liabilities and commitments. All reporting of information (e.g. expense reports, invoice transmittals, inventory summaries, etc.) must be accurate, honest and timely and present a fair representation of the facts.

If you have information or knowledge regarding any violation of this policy you should promptly report such matter to the Chair of the Audit Committee or Chair of the Board, as applicable (see Ethics Reporting Policy and Whistleblower Policy).

POLITICAL ACTIVITIES

We encourage our employees to participate in the political process on their own behalf as they see fit. No employee, however, shall make any contribution of Organto funds, equipment or other assets to any candidate for public office or any political party. Likewise, no money or property may be given to a lobbyist or consultant on behalf of Organto in order to obtain any action on legislation, regulations or other governmental activity without the express authorization of the CEO.

MEDIA RELATIONS

We expect the use of proper, timely media contact by persons authorized to speak officially for the Company. Without prior authorization, such contact is prohibited. Anyone requesting information about Organto should be referred to a member of the Leadership Team (see Communications Policy).

Our officers, employees, directors, contractors and agents may choose to create or participate in on-line social networks. Any use of such media is expected to comply with this Code of Business Conduct and Ethics. Users are personally responsible for the content they publish and must not discuss confidential Organto information. If identified as an officer, employee, director, contractor or agent of Organto, the user must use a disclaimer such as this: "The postings on this site are my own and don't necessarily represent Organto's positions, strategies or opinions."

ANTITRUST AND TRADE REGULATION COMPLIANCE

Antitrust laws have been enacted by many governments to help preserve free enterprise systems, promote competition and protect the public, Organto and other companies from unfair and predatory trade practices.

No employee shall enter into any understanding, agreement, plan or scheme, whether express or implied, formal or informal, oral or written, with any competitor with respect to prices, terms or conditions of sale, credit terms, output, production, distribution, territories or customers. The policy of Organto absolutely prohibits any consultation with competitors relating to prices or terms and conditions of sale.

We will promote an atmosphere of open and honest communication within and across all levels of the organization. We are committed to equitable compensation that reflects employee contributions to Organto objectives within a framework of equal opportunity and affirmative action.

Organto will take affirmative action to ensure that all employment practices are free of such discrimination. Such employment practices include, but are not limited to the following: hiring, promotion, demotion, transfers, recruitment, selection, lay-off, disciplinary action, termination, rates of pay or other forms of compensation and selection for training.

We believe the dignity, individuality and privacy of all people must be respected. If, at any time, you believe that an assignment violates your moral or religious principles or your personal dignity, you are encouraged to address such concern to your immediate supervisor (see Ethics Reporting Policy).

To comply with Canadian and applicable international securities laws governing:

- 1) trading in Organto Foods Inc. (“Organto”) securities while in the possession of “material nonpublic information” concerning Organto, and
- 2) tipping or disclosing material nonpublic information to outsiders.

To prevent the appearance of improper insider trading or tipping, the Company has adopted this policy for all of its directors, officers, insider employees including their household family members, and specially designated outsiders (contractors) who have access to Organto’s material nonpublic information.

SCOPE

- (a) This policy covers all directors, officers and other employees of Organto including their household family members, and any outsiders whom the Company may designate as Insiders because they have access to material nonpublic information concerning Organto (collectively referred to as “Insiders”).
- (b) The policy applies to any and all securities of Organto including its common stock and options to purchase common stock and any other type of securities that Organto may issue such as preferred stock, convertible debentures, warrants, etc.
- (c) This policy will be delivered to all directors, officers, insider employees and designated outsiders, and to all new directors, officers, insider employees and designated outsiders at the start of their employment or relationship with Organto. Upon first receiving a copy of this policy or any revised versions, each Insider must sign an acknowledgment that he or she has received a copy and agrees to comply with the policy’s terms.

DESIGNATED INDIVIDUALS

Organto has designated certain persons (including officers, directors, and employees with access to inside information and specially designated outsiders with access to inside information) as Insiders who must obtain prior approval of all trades in Organto securities from the Insider Trading Compliance Officer in accordance with the Procedures for Approving Trades (the “Procedures”) below. Organto will amend the list of Insiders from time to time as necessary to reflect the addition, resignation or departure of designated Insiders.

COMPLIANCE OFFICER AND COMPLIANCE COMMITTEE

Organto has appointed the Chief Financial Officer and Corporate Secretary as the Insider Trading Compliance Officer for this policy (the “Compliance Officer”). The Insider Trading Compliance Committee (the “Compliance Committee”) will consist of the Compliance Officer and the CEO. The Compliance Committee will review and either approve or prohibit all proposed trades by Insiders in accordance with the Procedures set forth below. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the review and approval of any proposed trade by a director must also be approved by the Chair of the Board and any trade by the Chair of the Board must be approved by the Chair of the Audit Committee.

- (e) Revising the policy as necessary to reflect changes in federal or provincial insider trading laws and regulations.

Maintaining the accuracy of the list of Individuals to whom this policy applies, and updating the list periodically as necessary to reflect additions or deletions.

The Compliance Officer may designate one or more individual(s) who may perform the Compliance Officer's duties or the duties of the other member of the Compliance Committee in the event that the Compliance Officer or other Committee member is unable or unavailable to perform such duties.

DEFINITION OF "MATERIAL NONPUBLIC INFORMATION"

"Material" Information

Information about Organto is "material" if it would be expected to affect the investment or voting decisions of a reasonable shareholder or investor or if the disclosure of the information would be expected to significantly alter the total mix of information available in the marketplace about Organto. In simple terms, material information is any type of information which could reasonably be expected to affect the market price or value of Organto's securities. While it is not possible to identify all information that would be deemed "material," the following types of information ordinarily would be considered material:

- (a) Financial performance, especially quarterly and year-end earnings, and significant changes in financial performance or liquidity.
- (b) Projections and strategic plans.
- (c) Potential mergers and acquisitions or the sale of assets or subsidiaries.
- (d) New major discoveries or significant changes or developments in products or product lines, research or technologies.
- (e) Significant pricing changes that will impact profitability.
- (f) Stock splits, public or private securities/debt offerings or changes in the capital structure of the business.
- (g) Significant changes in senior management.
- (h) Actual or threatened major litigation or the resolution of such litigation.
- (i) Significant changes or developments in supplies or inventory including significant product defects, recalls or product returns.

"Nonpublic" Information

Material information is "nonpublic" if it has not been widely disseminated to the public through the Company's website or via newswire services. For the purposes of this policy, information will be considered public, i.e., no longer "nonpublic," after the close of trading on the second full trading day following Organto's widespread public release of the information.

STATEMENT OF COMPANY POLICY AND PROCEDURES

1) Prohibited Activities

- (a) No Insider may trade in Organto securities while possessing material nonpublic information concerning Organto.
- (b) No Insider may trade in Organto securities outside of the applicable “trading windows” described in Section 2 below or during any special trading blackout periods designated by the Compliance Officer.
- (c) No Insider may trade in Organto securities unless the trade(s) have been pre-approved by the Compliance Committee in accordance with the Procedures set forth below. To the extent possible, Insiders should retain all records and documents that support their reasons for making each trade.
- (d) The Compliance Officer may not trade in Organto securities unless the trade(s) have been approved by the CEO and Chair of the Board in accordance with the Procedures set forth below.
- (e) No Insider may “tip” or disclose material nonpublic information concerning Organto to any outside person including household family members, analysts, individual investors and members of the investment community and news media unless required as part of that Insider’s regular duties and authorized by the Compliance Officer and CEO and, as deemed necessary, an outside director. In any instance in which such information is disclosed to outsiders, the Company will take such steps as are necessary to preserve the confidentiality of the information including requiring the outsider to agree in writing to comply with the terms of this policy and/or to an agreement. All inquiries from outsiders regarding material nonpublic information about Organto must be forwarded to the Compliance Officer and CEO, or their designates.
- (f) No Insider may give trading advice of any kind about Organto to anyone while possessing material nonpublic information about Organto except that, Insiders should advise others not to trade if doing so might violate the law or this policy. Organto strongly discourages all Insiders from giving trading advice concerning Organto to third parties even when the Insiders do not possess material nonpublic information about Organto.
- (g) No Insider may (a) trade in the securities of any other public company while possessing material nonpublic information concerning that company, (b) “tip” or disclose material nonpublic information concerning any other public company to anyone or (c) give trading advice of any kind to anyone concerning any other public company while possessing material nonpublic information about that company.

2) Trading Windows and Blackout Periods

Trading Window for Insiders. After obtaining trading approval from the Compliance Committee in accordance with the Procedures set forth below, Insiders may trade in Organto securities only during the period beginning at the close of trading on the second full trading day following Organto’s public release of quarterly or year-end financial statements and related filings and ending at the close of trading 15 days following any fiscal quarter and 30 days following year-end.

Trading Windows for All Other Employees. All other employees who are not Insiders may trade in Organto securities at any time, subject to any special blackout period that may be designated by the Compliance Officer.

No Trading During Trading Windows While in the Possession of Material Nonpublic Information. No Insiders possessing material nonpublic information concerning Organto may trade in Organto securities even during applicable trading windows. Persons possessing such information may trade during a trading window only after the close-of trading on the second full trading day following Organto's public release of the information.

No Trading During Blackout Periods. No Insiders may trade in Organto securities outside of the applicable trading windows or during any special blackout periods that the Compliance Officer may designate. No Insider may disclose to any outside third party that a special blackout period has been designated.

3) Procedures for Approving Trades by Insiders

Insider Trades. No Insider may trade in Organto securities until the required pre-clearance has been received.

No Obligation to Approve Trades. The existence of the foregoing approval procedures does not in any way obligate the Compliance Officer or Compliance Committee to approve any trades requested by Insiders. The Compliance Officer or Compliance Committee may reject any trading requests at their sole reasonable discretion.

Preannouncement of Trades. The Compliance Officer may recommend that larger trading transactions be announced prior to their execution to dissipate even the appearance of the individual liquidating or increasing their holdings based on adverse material nonpublic information. Under such circumstances it is recommended the trade not be executed until after the second full trading day following the widespread announcement of the individual's intent to liquidate a portion of their holdings.

4) Employee Benefit Plans

Stock Incentive and Restricted Share Units Plans: The trading prohibitions and restrictions of this policy apply to all sales of stock acquired through the exercise of stock options or restricted share units granted by Organto, but not to the acquisition of stock through such exercises.

5) Priority of Statutory or Regulatory Trading Restrictions

The trading prohibitions and restrictions set forth in this policy will be superseded by any greater prohibitions or restrictions prescribed by Canadian federal or provincial securities laws and regulations. Any Insider who is uncertain whether other prohibitions or restrictions apply should ask the Compliance Officer.

VII. POTENTIAL CIVIL, CRIMINAL AND DISCIPLINARY SANCTIONS

1) Civil and Criminal Penalties

The consequences of prohibited insider trading or tipping can be severe. Persons violating insider trading or tipping rules may be required to disgorge the profit made or the loss avoided by the trading, pay the loss suffered by the person who purchased securities from or sold to the insider tipper, pay civil penalties, pay monetary criminal penalties and possible jail terms. Organto and/or the supervisors of the person violating the rules may also be required to pay major civil or criminal penalties.

2) Company Discipline

Violation of this policy or federal or provincial insider trading or tipping laws by any director, officer, employee, designated insider or their household family member may subject the director to dismissal proceedings and the officer, employee or designated insider to disciplinary action up to and including termination for cause.

3) Reporting of Violations

Any Insider who violates this policy or any Canadian federal or provincial laws governing insider trading or tipping, or knows of any such violation by any other Insiders, must report the violation immediately to the Compliance Officer. Upon learning of any such violation, the Compliance Officer, in consultation with the other Compliance Committee member and, if necessary, external legal counsel, will determine whether the Company should release any material nonpublic information, or whether Organto should report the violation to the TSX-V or other appropriate governmental authority.

INQUIRIES

Please direct all inquiries regarding any of the provisions or procedures of this policy to the Compliance Officer.
